

A close-up photograph of two ripe persimmons. The fruit in the foreground is large, round, and has a vibrant orange-red color with a glossy sheen. Its dried, star-shaped calyx is a mix of yellow and brown, showing some decay. The second persimmon is slightly behind and to the left, also showing its calyx. They are resting on a plain white surface. In the background, a blue object, possibly a book or folder, is partially visible.
